Going Dark

You may have noticed that this year July and August are not as busy as most other months here at Pavilion Theatre. During this period, we are taking some time to regenerate the theatre, and prepare the venue (and ourselves!) for a jam-packed September to December line-up. We look forward to seeing you at Pavilion Theatre soon!

Keep up to date with newly added events and our special Box Office opening hours during this time on our website www.paviliontheatre.ie

The Man in the Woman's Shoes

THEATRE

Written, Directed & Performed by Mikel Murfi

Thu 7 & Fri 8 May, 8pm

€18/16

Back due to overwhelming demand, following sell-out runs at Pavilion, the award-winning Mikel Murfi returns with his one-man, hit-show The Man in the Woman's Shoes for two dates only.

It's October 1978, Pope John Paul I is not long dead. Autumn is closing in and Pat Farnon has 'some business' to do in town.

The Man in the Woman's Shoes follows Pat as he walks the five miles from his wee white cottage to town and back. Along that journey, we are treated to a charming encounter with an ageing man who has a boundless enthusiasm for life.

Hilariously funny, tender and at times downright daft, The Man In The Woman's Shoes, will leave you feeling uplifted and in love with life again. Don't miss it this time around!

"One of the most delightful shows in years" Irish Daily Mail

"an enchanting show, hilarious...One of the most delightful theatrical experiences I've had in a long time" Gay Byrne

Written by Hilary Fannin (Irish Times) | Directed by Lynne Parker

Cast: Vincent McCabe, Aislin McGuckin, Eleanor Methven and Ray Scannell

An accidental meeting in a snow-locked airport reunites former lovers Angie and Nathaniel. Ten years have passed since their parting. In that time Angie has remained in Ireland, marrying and having children, staying faithful to her profession as a teacher. Nathaniel, meanwhile, has patched together a life in Berlin, where he currently lives with his girlfriend, a young economist.

The intervening decade has also seen Ireland wake up to the crucifying hangover of the tiger economy. As the country counts the empties from the days of plenty, both financial and emotional, Angie and Nathaniel retrace the actions and inactions that led to the sudden death of their love affair. Illuminated by the unflinching light of snow, the couple revisit a festive night ten years before, a birthday dinner with his parents, when with corks popping and cuff links glittering, the family's ravaged past pulled up a seat at the table, destroying their future.

Colm Mac Con Iomaire

MUSIC

Fri 29 May, 8pm

€20

★★★★ The Guardian

In a crowded field of outstanding Irish fiddle players and interpreters of traditional music, Colm Mac Con Iomaire (The Frames, The Swell Season) is unique. His voice is unmistakably his own and his music bears distinctive creative hallmarks.

Hailing from Blackrock, Colm, along with his school friends, was a founding member of contemporary Irish trad group Kila. A busking friendship with, Glen Hansard, was followed by a leap into the professional mainstream and a new role, playing fiddle with the wildly popular The Frames. His work in film and theatre has allowed him to progress and mature as an orchestrator of his own compositions which mould together his impressive technical mastery, musical authority and exquisitely expressive playing.

By George Orwell

Adapted and Performed by Phelim Drew

A man drifting through life in early 1920s Paris, scraping by teaching English and generally soaking up the rich underbelly of Parisian life, finds himself falling helplessly short and discovering a very different view of life, looking up from below. With a keen understanding of social inequality and a wry sense of humour, he vividly recounts his experiences while down and out. This powerful performance from Phelim Drew brings Orwell's classic to the stage with humour, empathy and wit. Entertaining yet poignant, this thought provoking piece that shines a light on those who are unlucky enough to fall through the cracks.

Irish Youth Dance Festival

DANCE

Sun 28 Jun, 8pm

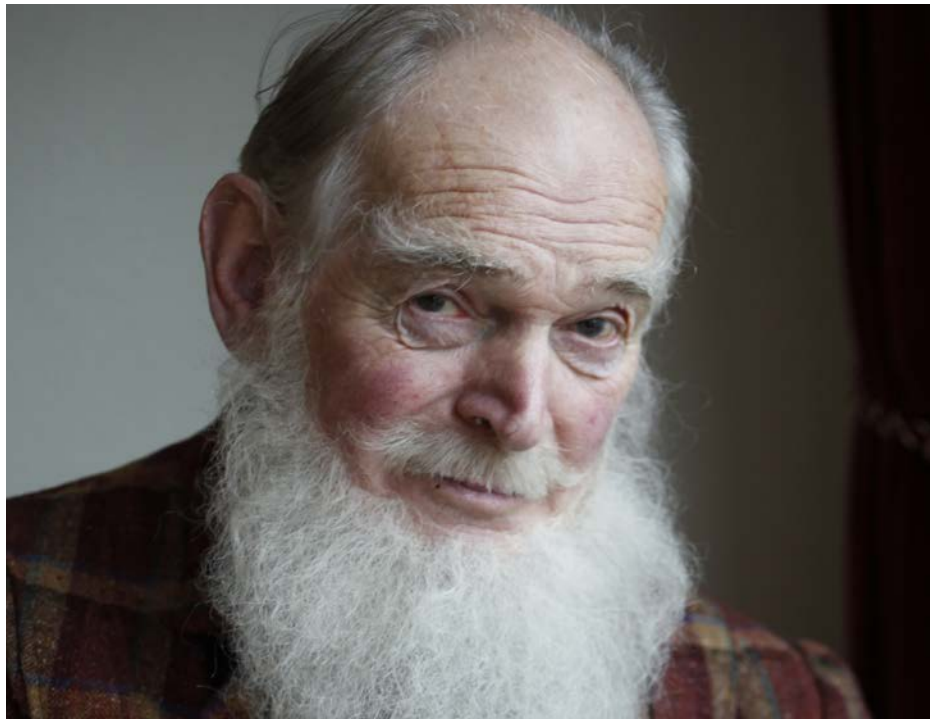

€14

Age Suitability: 6+

The 15th Irish Youth Dance Festival, hosted by Dublin Youth Dance Company, is Ireland's only festival to offer a showcase of the country's most exciting, up-and-coming contemporary youth dance talent.

This unique and hugely popular event will offer audiences the opportunity to see some of the most exciting dance talent Ireland has to offer, along with performances from dancers from the US. This year IYDF will be taking dance to the streets for the first time, with performances on both the Pavilion stage and on Dún Laoghaire's streets this summer. The festival, which is Ireland's longest running dance festival, is presented by Dublin Youth Dance Company and company AD Mariam Ribón.

Hothouse Flowers Liam O'Maonlai, Fiachna O'Braonain and Peter O'Toole, known for their unique brand of rock that's influenced by soul, gospel and traditional music are playing an acoustic show on Pavilion's stage. This is a band that started out busking – they played the streets and brought the streets to the stages of the world. There is an unpredictable energy and deep repertoire to create such a show that is so unique. No two shows from these guys are ever the same. Improvisation can come at any point and allow the musicians to express their brightest and their darkest influences. Humour is also never far from a Hothouse Flowers night, however there is no mistaking the musical integrity among them as they open up to each other in musical dialogue.

Lubomyr Melnyk

★★★★ Rolling Stone ★★★★★ Mojo

Following on from recent acclaimed performances by fellow Erased Tapes artists Olafur Arnalds and A Winged Victory for the Sullen, we are thrilled to welcome Ukrainian composer and pianist Lubomyr Melnyk for a very special evening at Pavilion. Classically trained Lubomyr is a true innovator, exploring new directions for contemporary music; to witness one of his rare live performances is nothing short of a mind-opening experience. Not only is he regarded as one of the world's fastest concert pianists, his compositions truly carry the listener to new realms.

His first release on UK label Erased Tapes was produced by Peter Broderick with the additional help of Nils Frahm and Martyn Heyne.

Irish Chamber Orchestra at Monkstown Parish Church The Four Seasons Twice

MUSIC

Sat 18 Jul, 8pm

€20/18 (Early Bird Tickets Available)

Venue: Monkstown Parish Church

Irish Chamber Orchestra

The Irish Chamber Orchestra is funded by the Arts Council of Ireland

Director Katherine Hunka and the Irish Chamber Orchestra bring their own blend of musical alchemy, combining Vivaldi's iconic Four Seasons with Astor Piazzolla's Four Seasons of Buenos Aires. Taking place within the beautiful surroundings of the ancient parish church of Monkstown, this will be a rare opportunity to experience the splendour of Vivaldi and Piazzolla like never before. Vivaldi's Seasons has long enjoyed immense popularity and never fails to enchant with its freshness and musical brilliance. Each season features three short movements, prefaced by a sonnet full of allusions ripe for sonic depiction. Piazzolla's Buenos Aires is full of atmosphere and virtuosity. Using contrasting rhythms and moods, Vivaldi seamlessly interweaves with Piazzolla creating an intensely emotive musical piece.

What Would Ma Say

AMATEUR

Thu 18 Jun, 8pm

€15

A hilarious nostalgic reminder of a Dublin that's long gone...

What Would Ma Say is a hilarious play based on the bestseller of the same name. Kathleen Doyle introduces us to her remarkable family and their exploits growing up in Dublin in the 1950s/60s. "MA" is an ordinary woman with little education behind her. But maybe not so ordinary in the way she learned to survive and handle life.
