Indigestion

Written & performed by Seamus O'Rourke

Thu 9 Jun, 8pm | €18/16

www.paviliontheatre.ie

A young Cavan man is shipped off to London at the age of 17, goes through bouts of depression, obesity and anger issues, finds and loses love, and comes back to Ireland to more misfortune and mayhem. Yet, there is HOPE. This is a funny, insightful and thought-provoking story full of hope, where laughter and tears join hands and race us through forty years of a life, not much different to our own.

"O'Rourke's ability to tell this story with such humour and yet tear at our heart strings is a testament to the writing, but also to his very presence on stage." Curtin Call

A Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man

Thu 16 Jun, 8pm – Bloomsday | Fri 17 Jun, 8pm

€18/14 | Early Bird Tickets 1st Night Only

One hundred years on from its original publication in 1916, we are celebrating the centenary of James Joyce's world famous novel as part of the Bloomsweek Celebrations.

A reworking of the classic coming of age story, A Portrait of the Artist mirrors the author's life when he left Dublin for Paris at the age of twenty, challenging attitudes to family, homeland and the Catholic Church.

This internationally acclaimed stage adaptation makes use of the techniques that would make Joyce famous – and infamous – with his stream of consciousness narration.

Back due to overwhelming demand, following multiple, sell-out runs at Pavilion, the award-winning Mikel Murfi returns with his one-man hit show The Man in the Woman's Shoes. Don't miss it this time around!

Set in October 1978 - Pope John Paul the First is not long dead, autumn is closing in and Pat Farnon has 'some business' to do in town.

The Man in the Woman's Shoes follows the charming Pat Farnon as he walks the five miles to town and back again.

Funny, tender and at times downright daft, it will leave you feeling uplifted and in love with life again.

On a stormy night in Brendan's pub, isolated above a Leitrim town, the men are gathering for their daily pint. The arrival of a stranger in their midst – a beautiful woman – spurs them to impress her with stories. They are stories of souls past, spirits present and spectres unforeseen. One story, however, is more haunting, more sinister and more real than any of them could have foreseen.

On its première in 1997, The Weir won the Evening Standard, Critics' Circle and Olivier award for Best New Play, and established McPherson's eerie tale as a masterpiece of modern theatre.

Following an eight month run on Broadway, the New York Times described the play as "beautiful and devious" and hailed the playwright, as "a first-rate story-teller."

Quietly compelling and strangely chilling, The Weir is the perfect story for a summer's night. Decadent's production marks a major Irish revival and national tour of this undoubted modern classic.
